ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Financial Market Integration is a process by which the financial markets are integrated leading to a convergence of market risk and price. It leads to efficient capital allocation, better governance, higher investment and growth and risk-sharing. In recent times, Financial Market Integration has become the principal driver of globalization and a hallmark of an increasingly globalized economy.

The financial market of India has registered considerable development with the onset of financial reforms, starting in the 1990s. There have been much efforts made in strengthening financial markets through the creation of financial institutions, introducing innovative financial instruments, easing financial restrictions, unconventional monetary policy announcements and adoption of international frameworks. Though these developments have been taken up gradually but still need to be undertaken as a continuous process and accorded high priority. To materialize the same, Indian Financial Market requires better regulation, greater transparency as well as stronger institutional and legal framework. It is important, therefore, that the regulatory authorities, industry experts and researchers should synergize their efforts to promote research and innovations for further nourishing Financial Market Integration.
